Creative Standing Collar with Soft Pleats, Inspired by Alexander McQueen

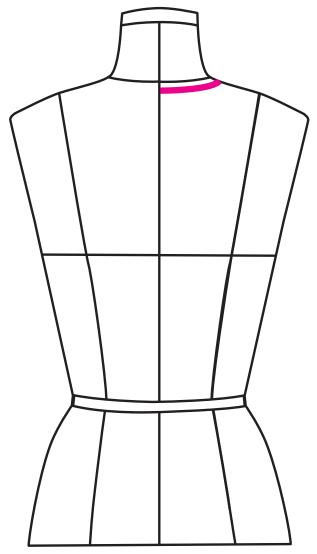

Temp. Assistant Professor Larissa Shirley King, Fashion Design, Fashion Institute of Technology

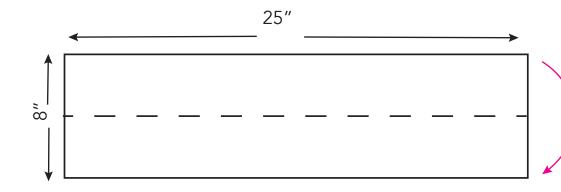

Use your style tape to mark a narrow V-neckline, as shown.

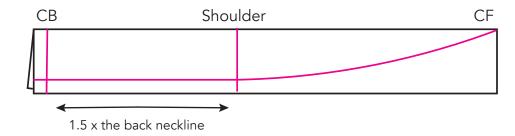

Measure the neckline from the CB to the shoulder seam ___ in

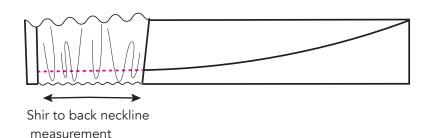

Calculate for the drape:

• Back neck seam ____ in x 1.5 = ____in

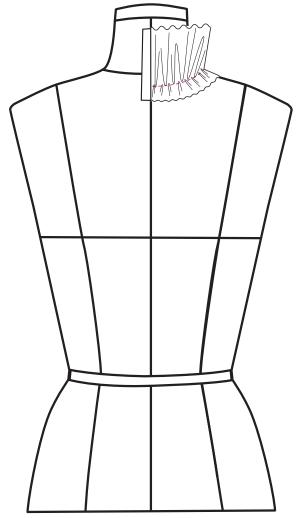

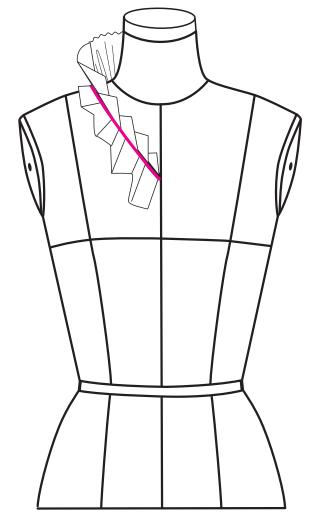

Prepare the Drape

- 1. Prepare a piece of muslin, 25" wide by 8" tall.
- 2. Fold in half lengthwise and press.
- 3. Draft a verical line 1" away from the left edge--this is the CB
- 4. Draft a second vertical line 1.5 times the CB and Shoulder Seam neckline distance
- 5. Draft a horizontal line 1" away from the bottom edge
- 6. Using your hip curve, connect the Shoulder Seam to the corner, to create a guideline
- 7. Machine or hand shirr the back neckline to the measurement of the back neckline

- 1. Pin the back collar to the back neckline, proportions you find appealing, finishing at from the CB to the shoulder seam.
- 2. At the shoulder seam, start forming soft, irregular pleats, using the guideline as a general guide to the seamline along the front neckline. Adjust the pleats into
- the CF/corner of the drape.
- 3. Mark, and true the pleats, seamline and seam allowance. Transfer to paper to create your final pattern.
